The deaths for the week were 483.

The steamship City of Paris, for Liverpool, took $25,000, and the Rapidan, for Havana, $15,000 in specie.

Judge Rosecrans, of the Supreme Court, to-day issued an order removing to the United States Circuit Court the case of James Fisk vs. the Union Pacific Railroad. In the Circuit Court, before Judge Blatchford, Recorder Hacket asked and was given time to make return to a mandamus in the Pacific Railroad case served on him on the 23d inst. After arguments Judge Blatchford decided the order of Judge Rosecrans was a compliance with the terms of the mandamus served on the Supreme Court, and the case was now properly in the United States Court.

It is stated the Erie Railroad has entered into a contract with the Michigan Southern Railroad to build a road from Akron, Ohio, to Toledo, the Erie road receiving therefor the right to use the track of the former road until the 10th of next October, the right renewable on expiration. Engineers and workmen leave here for Akron on Monday. This arrangement gives the Erie road a broad gauge through to Chicago.

William Forrester, an escaped convict from the penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., was arrested on Houston street by a Deputy Sheriff yesterday afternoon. He made some resistance, whereupon the notorious Theodore Allen interfered and Forrester escaped. Allen was arrested, but for want of evidence, was discharged.

The steamer Pennsylvania, from Liverpool, and Deutchland, from Bremen, have arrived. The latter brings Southampton dates of the 16th and £33,000 of specie.

The people are in ecstacies over the action of Councils, yesterday, taxing dogs five dollars each, and giving one dollar reward for every unmuzzled dog delivered to the pound.

Chas. Morris, the cork-legged robber, implicated in the Schlenker robbery last Wednesday, was arrested last night. On his person were found $1,500 in cash, and a $250 gold watch.

Jesse R. Grant arrived from Washington last night.

Injunction Against Union Pacific Railroad Officers.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, March 27.—Wayman Crow, Samuel M. Cobb and others, on the part of the stockholders of the Union Pacific Railroad, applied to the Circuit Court today for an injunction to restrain the officers of that Company from entering on the poll book, to be used at an election for directors next Monday, the names of all parties to whom stock has been transferred since February 26th. It appears that on that day the directors of the Company had all the stock owned by them transferred in lots of twenties to divers parties, in order to cast a large vote; but, finding at the close of the day that even with this they would be beaten by the opposition to the "white line" ticket, kept the book some eighteen days more, and meantime bought more stock which they had transferred to parties who do not really own the stock, until they thought they had enough, when they closed the books. The injunction was granted.

Governor of Virginia Removed.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

RICHMOND, March 27.—Gen. Stoneman to-day issued an order removing Governor Wells, and assuming the duties of the office himself. Mayor Burgess, of Petersburg, was also removed from office.

Advices from China and Japan.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—The Great Republic, from Hong Kong February 19th, arrived to-night. The arrangements between Burlingame and Lord Clarendon that hereafter all negotiations are to be conducted with the Central Government instead of the local authorities, and that before war is inaugurated disputes must be referred to the home government gives great dissatisfaction to the Hong Kong Press, which cites the Swotow affair as sufficient commentary on the first part of the stipulation.

The British gunboat Algerine returned to Kong Kong from an unsuccessful search for the missing French man-of-war Lemonge, which left Saigon on the 1st of November, the loss of which is now looked upon as certain.

A meeting of merchants of Foochow in respect to tea deficulties resulted in the Viceroy, in concert with the trade committee, issuing a proclamation against the fraudulent conduct of tea men in the false packing of cargoes.

Intelligence from Japan is meagre. Admiral Enomatto is strongly fortifying Poseteon, near Volcano bay, intending to fight it out unless the Mikado complies with the demands of the exiled Keras, that they shall return to the island of Yeddo, and that the late Tycoon be sent as their ruler. The ram Stonewall left Yokahomo March 3d, for Yeddo, to be immediately transferred to the Japaneze government.

A difficulty occurred at Kiota between the followers of Satsuma and Choiste. It is reported several streets were set on fire and that the flames reached the palace of the Mikado, who fled to Osaka. It is reported the assassination of the governor of Osako originated from the fact that a high official was murdered there.

Admiral Eromatto celebrated the event of his taking entire possession of the Island of Yeddo by firing a salute of one hundred and one guns from the fleet and batteries ashore. He notified all the consuls of the formation of the provisional government, and of the appointment of the necessary permanent officers of the principal departments. His forces are rapidly increasing and it will be no easy matter for the Mikado to subdue him and retake the Island.

China Catholic priests from the north report the Mahommedan rebels strong in force on the road to Pekin, and predict the fall of the Celestial Empire within a year.

Mining at Cheafos is stagnant.

A further missionary difficulty occurred at Foochow. The assistance of the British gunboats was called. Placards were posted about the city calling on the people to arise and exterminate all foreigners. An English fleet of three gunboats destroyed two villages near Swato, because of an outrage by the Chinese on the crew of a gunboat.

The Washington treaty of 1868 between China and the United States has been received at Shanghae, and only awaits a fitting opportunity for delivery to Prince Kung at Pekin.

The Cuban Insurrection.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, March 27.—The report published here a few days ago that a heavy battle had been fought between the government troops and insurgents in the Eastern Department, on the road from Remedios to Moron, is untrue. The engagement was only a slight skirmish.

The steamer Comanditario, which was taken possession of by her passengers, carried but one day's supply of coal. The vessels which arrived to-day report seeing the Comanditario off Stirrup Keys, under sail. Others report seeing her anchored off the Bahama banks, one hundred miles from Nassau. A Spanish man-of-war has gone in pursuit of her.

Intelligence from Sagua states that a party of young Cubans organized themselves into a military company with the intention of joining the insurgents. They were betrayed, however, by one of their number, and all, including Medurio, their reputed leader, imprisoned.

Havana journals publish dispatches from all parts of the Island. The news received is favorable to the Government. Reports of several skirmishes between troops and insurgents have been received. The steamer Comenal has been armed and fitted out as a gunboat, and to-day sailed from Cardenas to intercept an expedition expected from Nassua. One of the Peruvian monitors remained four days at Puerto Naranjo, four leagues from Gibra, during which time the crew were engaged in cutting wood for the purpose of supplying steam.

HAVANA, March 28.—The rest of the passengers and crew of the steamer Comanditaro have arrived at Cardenas. They denounce the Purser and Engineer as leaders in the plot for seizing the vessel.

Two men were killed in the streets of Havana to-day, and six were arrested for uttering seditious cries. E. R. Cordington, American Consular Agent at Gibrala, has brought a prisoner to Havana.

From Sandwich Islands.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28.—The steamer Idaho arrived this evening with Honolulu advices up to March 17th. Business was unusally dull.

February 22d was observed in Honolulu by the flying of bunting from Punch Bowl Battery and foreign Consulates' private residences.

The crater of Kilania is reported in action again. Two shocks of an earthquake were felt at Hilo. No danger of draught prevails in the island of Howaii.

News from Hayti.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HAVANA, March 27.—Advices from Porte-au-Prince to the 18th are received. Salnave was in a precarious situation. Owing to the State of the finances the navy had not received any pay for three months, and there was a murmuring feeling at the Capital against Salnave. The blacks were jealous of the whites and assassinations were feared. A petition was in circulation praying for the blockading of the port of Aux Cayes. Gold was 270 premium.

—At San Francisco, Cal., in the libel suit of Captain H. O. Winsor against the Evening Bulletin for fifty thousand dollars damages, the jury were absent three minutes and rendered a verdict for defendants. The alleged libel consisted in stating that Winsor while in command of the ship Intrepid, on a voyage from New York in 1867, was dissipated, treated his sailors brutally, finally set one of his seamen adrift in an open boat off Easter Island, and that the man was never heard from and was supposed to have perished.

It is now thought by members of Congress of both parties that adjournment sine die will not take place before the middle of April.

PACIFIC RAILROADS.

The following telegram was recently received by the Secretary of the Interior:

Salt Lake, Utah, March 19.—The report on the Central Pacific road will require time. We think you should know that we, who have seen both, deem the Central Pacific Railroad as incomplete as the Union Pacific road.

[Signed.] G. K. WARREN, Brev. Maj. Gen. U. S. A., J. B. BLICKENSDERFER, Special Commission.

The above refers to the manner of constructing the two roads. Another telegram just received says the Union Pacific road track is laid twenty-five miles west of Ogden, which is fifty-one miles east of Monument Point. The grading of the last mentioned distance is completed, with the exception of six miles. The Central road is laid to a point seventy-five miles west of Monument Point, leaving a gap between the roads of one hundred and twenty-six miles, over which rails are to be laid.

A Shiftless Man

An artist tells the following story in Harper's Monthly for April:

In the spring of 1841 I was searching for a studio in which to set up my easel. My "house hunting" ended at the New York University, where I found what I wanted in one of the turrets of that stately edifice. When I had fixed my choice the janitor, who accompanied me in my examination of the rooms, threw open a door on the opposite side of the hall and invited me to enter. I found myself in what was evidently an artist's studio, but every object in it bore indubitable signs of unthrift and neglect. The statuettes, busts and models of various kinds were covered with dust and cobwebs; dusty canvasses were faced to the wall, and stumps of brushes and scraps of paper littered the floor. The only signs of industry consisted of a few masterly crayon drawings and little luscious studies of color pinned to the wall.

"You will have an artist for your neighbor," said the janitor, "though he is not here much of late; he seems to be getting rather shiftless; he is wasting his time over some silly invention, a machine by which he expects to send messages from one place to another. He is a very good painter, and might do well if he would only stick to his business; but, Lord!" he added, with a sneer of supreme contempt, "the idea of telling by a little streak of lightning what a body is saying at the other end of it! His friends think he is crazy on the subject, and are trying to dissuade him from it, but he persists in it until he is almost ruined."

Judge of the astonishment when he informed me that the "shiftless" individual, whose foolish waste of time so excited his commiseration, was none other than the President of the National Academy of Design—the most exalted position, in my youthful artistic fancy, it was possible for mortal to attain—S. F. B. Morse, since much better known as the inventor of the eclectic telegraph. But a little while after this his fame was flashing throughout the world, and the unbelievers who voted him insane were forced to confess that there was at least "method in his madness."

Railway Snow-Sheds in California.

The Central Pacific Railway Company have erected a building which is doubtless the largest in the world. It is twenty-two miles in length, sixteen feet in width, and sixteen feet in height, not including the pitch of the roof. It is put up in the most substantial manner, all the timbers used being of the best quality to be obtained. The sides are enclosed, and were it not for the fact that daylight penetrates through the interstices between the boards, the whole affair would be very like a huge tunnel. The building is braced together in a most peculiar manner, and is, in addition, firmly bolted to the rocks wherever the road nears the face of a cliff. Where snow slides are to be feared, an extension of the roof has been carried to the cliffs, so that falling masses shall pass over the building and lodge on the other side. In many places, where side tracks are located, the building is wider than the figures given above. More than 40,000,000 feet of lumber have been used in its construction. It covers an area of more than 1,800,000 square feet, or nearly 44 acres. One of the best proofs of the stability of the structure is in the fact that, with the exception of a few miles which had not been really completed, it thoroughly answered the purpose for which it was designed during the recent severe storm, in which it was subjected to the most severe tests.

Boiling.

Another adaptation of a familiar fact to a practical use has been made in reference to increasing the rapidity of boiling in vessels. It will often be noticed in a vessel containing boiling water that the ebullition seems to start from a very few, sometimes only one or two favored spots; and on close examination, it will be seen that this results from the prevalence of some speck or particle adhering to the inner surface of the vessel, appearing to determine the escape of the bubble. By supplying to a steam boiler artificially such points of escape of the air bubbles, the process of the disengagement of steam can be very much facilitated. In an experiment made by Mr. Tomlinson, when water was boiled for twenty minutes in a glass flask by itself, 995 grains boiled away; but when pieces of coke were added 1,130 grains of water disappeared in the same time. In another instance, it was found that 262 grains of water were evaporated from a still containing nothing but water, while, after some pieces of charcoal were added, 334 grains evaporated in the same time. These suggestions have been thrown out for the consideration of practical men, and we have no doubt that like all such they will soon be utilized.—Phila. Ledger.

Statistics of American Intemperance.

Dr. McKinley, of St. Louis, has compiled, after a very careful research, some very interesting and startling statistics of inebriation in the United States. By him the following statements are made: Taking the population of this country at forty millions; of 300 men, 122 never drink spirits at all; 100 drink moderately, but not to intoxication; 50 are ephemeral drinkers; 25 drink periodically, called "spreeing;" and 3 are habitual inebriates. To every 178 who drink, 3 are confirmed inebriates; 25 are periodical drinkers; 50 are ephemeral drinkers. There is 1 confirmed inebrtate to every 59½ of men. Of 700 women, 600 never taste alcoholics of any kind; 30 taste wine occasionally; 17 taste ardent spirits; 36 drink ale or beer constantly; 14 drink ardent spirits periodically, and 3 are habitual inebriates. Predominance in confirmed inebriates of the sexes: 3 men in every 178; 3 women in every 100—1 confirmed inebriate to every 33⅓ of women. Fewer women drink than men, but a larger proportion of them become habitual drinkers. Debauch drinkers rarely become habitual, but periodical drinkers; the latter rarely become habitual inebriates, as the violence of their drinking is too great, and leads to disgusting satiety, and hence to intervals of sobriety.

CLIPPINGS.

THE Michigan Senate unanimously voted for the cession of the Saut Canal to the United States. The lower branch has yet to act on the matter.

PRINCE LOUIS of Bourbon, recently married in New York, is the direct heir to the Brazilian throne, in case the present Emperor dies without heirs.

CAPT. E. B. WARD, recently divorced in Detroit, was married on the 11th inst., at Conneaut, Ohio, to Miss Catharine Lyon, of Conneaut, a niece of Senator Wade.

THE COMMISSIONER of the General Land Office has received reliable information relative to diamond discoveries in Georgia. In a pit four by six, in washing for gold, three diamonds were found, one of which weighed one, and the other two karats.

A FLYING MACHINE, it is announced, has recently been invented by a citizen of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and the model is said to exhibit great ingenuity. The wings are fifteen feet in length each, and together will cover nine hundred square feet of surface.

PORTUGAL, which, like Spain, tolerates slavery in its colonies, has also taken a step toward emancipation. The official journal of the kingdom announces that the Ministry have submitted to the King a decree declaring all the slaves of the Transoceanic colonies free, but requiring them to work as freedmen for their former masters until 1878.

THE White Pine silver excitement is unabated; notwithstanding bitter cold weather and heavy snow storms are prevailing there. The rush of people thither is increasing, and new and rich discoveries are daily reported. Hundreds of companies are already incorporated in San Francisco to work the White Pine mines, and are still being formed at the rate of three to five per day.

MOUNT HOOD and other high peaks in Oregon have begun to smoke, and the inhabitants of the State fear earthquakes. All the peaks named in the dispatch, Hood (13,000 feet high,) Jefferson (11,000 feet,) and the Three Sisters—not Brothers, as some of the papers print it—(11,000 feet,) are extinct volcanoes; and Mount Hood has been active within the tradition of the Indian tribes.

WE greatly regret to learn through a gentlemen of this city, who recently visited Mr. Stanton, that the ex-Secretary's health is in a worse condition than is generally believed. His system is in a very weak state, and so feeble has he become that he is unable to leave his room. He converses with great difficulty with the few visitors who are admitted, on account of a painful cough which greatly annoys him.—Columbus Journal.

EMIGRATION to California this spring is very heavy, with a prospect that it will steadily increase during the summer. The discovery of new diggings in the lower part of the State is proving a great attraction; besides which many mechanics and workingmen, who have managed to save a little money, are resolved to begin life anew in a country where there is less competition than here, and where the struggle for life can be waged on easier conditions.

DISCIPLINE among the female prisoners at the Hamburg Penitentiary is maintained by the following very instructive plan: The female prisoners are divided into two classes, one embracing the old women and the other the young girls. If one of the former class does not behave, which is very rarely the case, she is locked up in the dungeon on bread and water. Violations of discipline in the department of the young girls are punished as follows: The offender is dressed in a very ugly costume and sent to the old women's class. The girls hate this punishment so much that they will even hold their tongues for whole days in order to escape it.

A DUEL which two Parisian editors were recently about to fight, was brought to an unexpected close by the arrival of their wives at the duelling grounds. The two ladies had heard of the affair of honor that was pending between their liege lords, and being acquainted with one another, had agreed to prevent the duel. So they dressed in the deepest mourning, and reached the grounds at the very moment when their husbands were ready to cross swords. When the two duellists saw their wives in mourning, cries of surprise burst from their lips. "Go on," said the ladies to them; "go on with your mad purpose; we merely wanted to show you what you are about to make of us." Of course the duel was not fought.

AKRON, Ohio, didn't like Wirt Sikes' lecture, and he publishes a card, in which he says of the occasion: "I had agony in my throat; I did not speak to my audience; I read as fast as I could read; I added nothing to what was written, and I subtracted fully one-third of what was written. I skipped recklessly; I omitted sometimes half a dozen pages together. Sequence could not possibly be maintained under these circumstances; personal magnetism could not reach my audience, or, if it did, it reached them only to tell them that I was in absolute agony, and that in uttering words at all, with my tonsils as large as premium cherries, and every word tearing its way out as if it had claws, I was doing the hardest work I ever did in my life."

EXPLORATION OF ANCIENT RIVERS.—Abana and Pharpar rivers, of Damascus, mentioned in the Scriptures, have been thoroughly explored recently by Macgregor, the famous canoe traveler. Macgregor, after going from Cairo to Suez, and exploring the Delta of the Nile, had his canoe carried by land to Beyrout, thence over Mount Lebanon, and finally launched in the river Abana, on which he paddled to the plains of Damascus. The rivers Abana and Pharpar, in consequence of the wild beasts, deep jungles, and Savage Arabs, have been heretofore laid down inaccurately on the maps by travelers. Macgregor gives an interesting account of a "giant stone town," with stone doors, rafters and window shutters, covered with Greek inscriptions, dating before the Christian era.

EASTER EGGS.

The use of Easter eggs dates far back in the Middle Ages. Its origin is not definitely known, but the inhabitants of Western Europe are said to have borrowed it from the Greek Church. Their crimson coloring is to represent the blood of Christ.

Trinity bells with their hollow lungs
And their vibrant lips and their brazen tongues
Over the roofs of the city pour,
Their Easter music with joyous roar,
Till the soaring notes to the sun are rolled,
As he swings along in his path of gold.

"Dearest papa," says my boy to me,
As he merrily climbs on his mother's knee,
"Why are these eggs that you see me hold
Colored so finely with blue and gold?
And what is the wonderful bird that lays
Such beautiful eggs on Easter days?"

Tenderly shine the April skies,
Like laughter and tears in my child's blue eyes,
And every face in the street is gay,
Why cloud this youngster's by saying nay!
So I cudgel my brains for the tale he begs
And tell him this story of Easter eggs.

You have heard, my boy, of the man who died,
Crowned with keen thorns and crucified;
And how Joseph the wealthy—whom God reward!
Cared for the corse of his martyred Lord,
And piously tombed it within a rock,
And closed the gate with a mighty block.

Now close by the tomb a fair tree grew,
With pendulous leaves and blossoms of blue,
And deep in the green tree's shadowy breast
A beautiful singing bird sat on her nest,
Which was bordered with mosses like malachite,
And held four eggs of an ivory white.

Now when the bird from her dim recess
Beheld the Lord in his burial dress,
And looked on the Heavenly face so pale,
And the dear feet pierced with the cruel nail,
Her heart nigh broke with a sudden pang,
And out of the depths of her sorrow she sang.

All night long, till the moon was up,
She sat and sang in her moss wreathed cup,
A song of sorrow as wild and shrill
As the homeless wind when it roams the hill,
So full of tears—so loud and long,
That the grief of the world seemed turned to song.

But soon there came through the weeping night
A glittering angel clothed in white;
And he rolled the stone from the tomb away,
Where the Lord of the Earth and Heavens lay;
And Christ arose in the cavern's gloom,
And in living lustre came from the tomb!

Now the bird that sat in the heart of the tree
Beheld this celestial mystery,
And its heart was filled with a sweet delight,
And it poured a song on the throbbing night;
Notes climbing notes, till higher, higher,
They shot to Heaven like spears of fire.

When the glittering white robed angel heard
The sorrowing song of the grieving bird,
And heard the following chant of mirth
That hailed Christ risen again on earth,
He said, "Sweet bird, be forever blest!—
Thyself, thy eggs, and moss wreathed nest!"

And ever, my child, since that blessed night,
When death bowed down to the Lord of Light,
The eggs of that sweet bird change their hue,
And burn with red, and gold, and blue,
Reminding mankind in their simple way,
Of the holy marvel of Easter Day.

Flowers at Weddings.

The New York Home Journal gives the following description of the magnificent floral decorations at a wedding in New York recently. The bride at this wedding received presents of diamond jewels to the value of $50,000:

"The floral decorations certainly surpassed any attempt of the kind at a similar entertainment ever given in this city. The staircases, ceilings, chandeliers, mirrors, doors, ornaments and furniture were garlanded and festooned most profusely with choice flowers and magnificent floral bells, and on every hand exotics, wreaths and evergreens were artistically displayed. Indeed, the interior of the house presented rather the appearance of an enchanted palace, so beautiful did it look, and the sense of smell was so delightful that the illusion was kept up with little imagination. In the front parlor, almost obscuring the two front windows, the designers had constructed an arbor, in which the bride and groom received the congratulations of their friends. It was composed of two thousand camellas and daphnae, callas and violets in unlimited numbers. The arbor was crowned with a shield of scarlet carnations topped with a monogram, M. T., formed of tube roses. In front of this, and separating the parlors, hung a marriage bell from a massive arch of flowers, with festooning falling on each other. At the rear of the parlors two very large floral harps were stationed, screening the musicians. The decoration of the staircases was a very effective piece of work. Being spiral in construction, a person standing on the lowest floor could see to the roof of the house, when, to use an expression of one of the guests, you were reminded of a tropical mountain in full bloom. One may get an idea of the exhibition when we say that it brought into use 10,000 camelias, 100,000 primaroses, 25,000 white azalias, and 2,000 heads of daphnae. The collection, altogether, was probably the finest gathering of exotics ever brought together in one house. Forty men and boys were occupied for some days in preparing the framework, and they were all engaged during the whole of Tuesday night in arranging the flowers."

Which is the Dry Goods King?

[From New York Letter to Boston Post.]

Mr. Stewart's only formidable rival in the wholesale line is Mr. Claflin. Claflin sells more at wholesale than Stewart, but Stewart's retail business puts him far ahead. The rivalry between the two houses is very great, and one is always trying to undersell the other. Stewart's great retail store will again be enlarged next summer. He has at last secured the two large buildings at the corner of Ninth street and Broadway, and will have them taken down in May. One of these buildings has been occupied for several years by Goupil, the well-known picture dealer. Goupil is moving up to Fifth avenue, and Stewart will then have the whole block to himself. About the first of May his principal rivals in the retail line—Arnold, Constable & Co., will take possession of the magnificent store built for them at Broadway and Eighteenth street. It covers a whole block on Broadway, and is a much finer looking building than Stewart's, though not so large. Another big dry goods firm, Lake & McCreery, will also move up town in May. A splendid building has been erected for them one block above Stewart's, and just opposite the St. Denis Hotel. When Arnold, Constable & Co., and Lake & McCreery move up, Lord & Taylor will be the only large retailers below Tenth street. It does not seem long since the principal retail trade was centered between Canal street and Stewart's old house at Chambers street, and the centre is now fully two miles up Broadway. At that time a man proposing to open a store at Union Square would have been pronounced mad, and now almost every house in the neighborhood is converted into a store. Stewart led trade up to Tenth street, about ten years ago, and it is now a couple of miles above.

Swedenborgianism—What It is and What It is Not.

The popular ignorance and prejudice concerning the doctrines of what its disciples call the "New Church," but what is far more generally known by the name of its eminent founder, the Swedenborgian Church, afford a curious illustration of the "odium theologicum." Few persons who have not made them the subject of special study know at all what those doctrines are. Even the well-informed clergymen have sometimes a vague notion that they are "spiritualistic," or "infidel," or "Unitarian;" and Swedenborgianism and "free-love," and "socialism" are most singularly intermixed in the minds of a good many people who ought to be better informed concerning the character of a denomination which is really characterized by nothing more than by the excellent lives and pure characters of most of its adherents. So far from being amenable to the charge of immorality, the theology of Swedenborgianism insists with great strenuousness upon interior purity of heart. So far from being Unitarian, it recognizes in Jesus the only one living and true God, the Infinite and Divine Spirit, not united with a human nature, but simply tabernacled in a human body. So far from being "infidel," the Swedenborgians pay to the written Word a reverence only less than that paid by the ancient Jew to his sacred Scriptures. So far from being "spiritualistic," they denounce Spiritualism with a vigor intensified by their mystic faith, of a dealing with evil spirits, the very sin punishable with death under the Mosaic code. Swedenborgianism is the very antipodes of Ritualism. The one recognizes reason as the supreme arbiter in religion; the other founds its beliefs on faith. In the Rationalist ideality and marvelousness are almost wholly wanting; in the Swedenborgians they predominate. The Rationalists are critics; the Swedenborgians are men of imagination. The Rationalists number among them a large proportion of the scientists; to the standard of Swedenborg flock quantities of poets, artists, musicians. His church is composed of men of refined and cultured tastes, rather than of skeptical or vigorous understandings. To the one, religion is a science; to the other, a poem.

Whoever desires to understand modern theology, and the elements which have contributed to its formation, has need to study the writings of Emanuel Swedenborg. Whatever minister desires to understand modern religious thought in his own congregation must know something of Swedenborgianism, though he has not a Swedenborgian in his parish. It is not likely he will ever become a convert to the New Church. It is not probable he will ever have to warn others against it. But he needs none the less to be acquainted both with its truths and its errors. In the former he will find much from which he can obtain useful information. In the latter he will find much which he strives in vain to comprehend.

To our thought, the best work for such investigations is Swedenborg's "True Christian Religion." It is to Swedenborgianism what Calvin's "Institutes" are to Calvinism. It affords the entire theology of the New Church in an authentic and authoritative form. Of course, he who desires to familiarize himself with that theology will investigate special doctrines further in special treatises. But he who desires simply to have in a comprehensive form the general teachings of Swedenborg, has them in these two handsome volumes. They are far better for the student than any mere modern treatises by subsequent writers. For, though Swedenborg has many enthusiastic followers, he has produced no original thinkers. We have found very little value in the works of his disciples, save that they translate into modern phraseology the thoughts of their leader. To gather these thoughts from the library of volumes he gave to the world, requires a painstaking study that few but his disciples have patience to give. But every Catholic theologian who desires to trace theology to its source, and to acquaint himself with the teachings of other churches than his own, should, if his means enable him to do so, make room for this work upon his library shelves.—Independent.

A HORRIBLE TRIAL is in progress at Toulouse, illustrative of the system of baby farming. Eight women are accused of procuring abortions and of murdering children committed to their charge. One Madame Delpech, called the ogress, has confessed. "How did you kill these wretched infants," asked the judge. "I was not a free agent." "Those children were found after they had been dead two or three days?" "Yes sir; I kept one for two or three days at the foot of my bed!" "You killed them by putting their heads in a pail of water. Is it not so?" "Yes, sir." She chopped up one child. The Judge then asks. "You suffocated another?" "Yes; exactly the same as the others." "And you buried it under the staircase?" "Yes; dug a hole with a shovel." Here she roared with laughter. "And the third child?" "Oh, always the same operation." She received 100f, 200f, 500f, and undertook to send the children to an institution. She simply killed them, and when one man asked for his child or his money, she and her accomplice arranged that they would hand over the money they got for the next, to the injured parent. On a table in front of the presiding magistrate was a series of little white boxes, which, on being uncovered, disclosed the skeletons of seven of the nine murdered infants. The President asked the woman Delpech whether she still insisted that she had killed nine. "O, yes! certainly nine." She was then asked whether it was true that she had given vitrol to her grandchild. "Yes," she said with a smile; "I gave her a little vitrol, in a glass of sugar and water."

THE mails from France to Italy at the end of February, like half a dozen or more of those from New York to the Pacific, were "snowed up," and a whole train is buried under an avalanche of snow near the summit of the Mount Cenis Pass. The expedient of hurrying light-footed mountaineers, in snow-shoes, over forty miles or so of mountain climbing, is a little speedier than the roundabout way by the Brenner Pass or by Marseilles, and for some weeks must be practiced. But the great tunnel will be finished before many more winters.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Zanesville Courier, writing from Putnam, says: "We have a man here, who has broken both arms, four ribs on one side and two on the other, both ankles out of joint, one leg, jaw bone, and both collar bones broken, and has lost his sight, all entirely by accident, and is still able to be about."

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, March 27, 1869.

GENERAL REVIEW—The market has been exceedingly irregular during the past week, almost every day having been characterized by violent and sudden fluctuations, and the volume of business in the aggregate has been comparatively large. It has been no uncommon thing to see the market rise and fall two or three times in a single day, thus keeping up a constant excitement and agitation, and at times it was difficult for those even who are engaged actively in the business, to keep the run of it. To day the feeling for both Crude and Refined was decidedly weak, and compared with yesterday, prices declined from a half to three quarters of a cent, and even at the decline there appeared to be but few buyers. The fact that large arrivals of Crude are expected within the next few days, hrd a tendency to depress the market and restrict operations, and as the time and attention of operators generally appeared to be mainly absorbed in making arrangements for deliveries, but comparatively little effort was made toward buying or selling.

REFINED—There was a fair amount of business done in Refined, but as will be seen prices are lower, March being off from fully a cent and a quarter, and April about a cent. Compared with Thursday, prices are off at out two cents, and as already intimated, the market closed dull and weak with a drooping tendency. Sales 500 March at 31½; 500 at 31; 1000 April at 32½; 500 do at 32¾; 500 do at 32¾; 500 do at 32¾; 500 June at 25; 500 July at 35; 500 April and May at 33; and 1000 April to December on private terms.

CRUDE—The market as already noted, was decidedly weak to day, and compared with yesterday, prices have declined fully a quarter of a cent, and even at the decline, buyers seemed to be scarce. Sale of 2,000 bbls for April, seller, at 15; and 5,000, seller till July,—settlement of contract—at 15. At the close it was offered at 15, for spot or seller's option, with but few buyers.

RECAPITULATION—Receipts Crude this week 14,467; last week, 8,083; from Janury 1st to date 123,653; same time last year, 202,567; Exports Refined, this week, 8,750; last week, 5,103; from January 1st to date, 75,078; same time last year, 60,030. Sales this week, 130,400; last week 115,600.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather yesterday was mild and spring-like, the mercury at noon having risen to 68; in the afternoon, however, it was cloudy and close, with every appearance of more rain.

The river was falling slowly yesterday afternoon, with fifteen feet in the channel by the Monongahela marks and sixteen by those of the Allegheny.

The Kate Putnam, from Louisville and St. Marys, from Cincinnati, are both due here to-day. The St. Marys is announced to return again to-morrow at noon: Capt. T. C. Sweeny in command.

The Waunita was announced to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh, on Saturday.

The Camelia left Nashville for Pittsburgh, on Friday, and the Armonia arrived at St. Louis the same day.

The Mary Davage and barges left St. Louis for Fittsburgh, on Friday.

The Fayette, formerly of the Brownsville packet line and recently introduced into the Pittsburgh and Parkersburg trade, was sold on Friday to the Portsmouth and Big Sandy Packet Co. for $15,000, cash. She left here in charge of her new owners.

Capts. J. C. Dowty and E. B. Trinidad, both of New Orleans, have been here for several days getting estimates for new boats. Capt. Trinidad, in addition to a new steamboat, contemplates contracting for several new barges. Capt. Dowty, it will be remembered, had command of the St. Nicholas, when she sunk in Red River, some time since. Up to this time, neither of these gentlemen have closed contracts.

It is said that the Brownsville Packet Company, will introduce another of their boats into the Pittsburgh & Parkersburg trade, as they have one more boat than they have use for.

Capt. Joseph H Lytle, is still here, though momentarily expecting orders to report himself to the Northern Line Packet Company at St. Louis.

—The Bayard, Capt. Geo. D. Moore, is the regular packet for Parkersburg today, leaving at noon.

—The Messenger with 600 tons, left Cincinnati for St. Paul on Thursday. Pilots, Alf Williamson and Capt. Jesse Dean.

—Ironsides is the name selected for the new towboat owned by the Northern Line Packet Co., now being completed at this place.

—The Collossal, Capt. Cox, and the Ida Rees No. 2, Capt. Thompson, are announced for Missouri River, clear up to Fort Benton.

—The St. Mary's arrived at Cincinnati from New Orleans on Thursday. It is hinted that she will shortly enter the St. Louis and Omaha trade.

—The Mollie Ebert, Capt. G. W. Ebert, with the veteran Standish Peppard in the office, is filling up steadily for St. Louis and Missouri River.

—The Fort Gibson, left Cincinnati for Arkansas River on Thursday, with nearly 200 tons of through freight. Pilots James Warman and "Old Red."

—The staunch and reliable Emma No. 3, Capt. James H. Marratta, is announced to leave for New Orleans this afternoon. She is one of the best boats that comes to this port.

The Lorena, Captain Sam Shuman, leaves for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi to-morrow, without fail, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind.

—The St. Louis Democrat thinks the rates recently adopted by the Northern Line and Northwestern Union Packet Companies are so high that all grain shipped from above the rapids will go through Chicago.

—A man, name unknown, fell overboard from the Silver Lake, on Thursday night, near Log Lick, and was picked up just as he was sinking for the last time, by the crew of the West Wind and taken to Cincinnati.

—Albert Barrington has sued the Northern Line Packet Company in the court at St. Louis for $600 the value of a trunk lost from the steamer Dubuque, on which boat he had taken passage for St. Paul, last September.

—The Rock Island Argus learns that the steamer Le Clair, now lying at the foot of the Sycamore chain, is being cut out of the ice for the purpose of towing the dredgeboat from Duck creek up to the new channel near Sycamore in order to clean it out.

—Gov. Bross, of Chicago, in a lecture at Quincy last Friday night, incidentally remarked that the Cashier of a Bank in San Francisco, with an income of a thousand dollars a day, was formerly the clerk of a steamboat plying between Keokuk and St. Louis.

—A Memphis letter writer has been trying to scare the Cairoites by telling them that the Mississippi is about to resume an old and almost forgotten channel through Mississippi county, Missouri, which will leave the Egyptian city six miles from the Mississippi river.

—The Vicksburg Herald of the 20th, contains the following: There are more Johns on the Robert E. Lee than on any any other boat afloat, doubtless. Capt. M'Vay, who is the officer of that boat, stepped out on the boiler deck, and called aloud, John! Up jumped Captain John Smoker, John Israel, John Stout, John Lindsey, John Roberts, John Mossop, John Sullivan, John Berry, John Garrity, John Wiest, and a number of other Johns, wanting to know which John it was that was wanted. Captain John Cannon must have a preference for the Jonns, to have so many on his boat.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp, 56@56½f.

NO TELEGRAMS were received over the cable by the Associated Press yesterday. We presume there is something wrong with the ocean wire.

IT IS gravely hinted that the ammunition fired off in Senator SPRAGUE'S speeches, is borrowed from the legal mind of a relative by marriage. Judge WOODWARD seems to think so, at all events.

THE much talked-of MCARDLE case has been finally dismissed, by the Supreme Court of the United States, the repeal of the law, under which that proceeding was instituted, having abolished the jurisdiction of the tribunal.

THE Erie Railway claims to have secured at last its long-desired connection with Chicago, by a branch connecting Akron with Toledo, and thence westward under an arrangement now matured with the Michigan Southern Company.

THE Public Credit bill gave up the option of lifting the five-twenty bonds until specie payment may be resumed. The rapid advance of quotations in these securities since the passage of that act seems to indicate that bonds bearing lower interest could be sold readily at par, in coin.

THE United States Revenue detectives of Eastern Tennessee are having a good time in turning up illicit distillers. From the number of seizures already made, the mountains of that State must be more thickly studded with copper worms, than Ireland contained in the palmiest days of poteen making.

FIFTEEN MILLIONS of dollars are to be annually saved to the Treasury by the reduction of the army, as ordered by Congress, and by the reforms in its administration which Gen. SHERMAN has inaugurated. The House Military Committee continues to wage a relentless war upon the few Tite Barnacles who still cling to the fragments of the exploded system—which affords a hope for still larger savings on that line of expenditure.

IT IS highly probable that a new peninsular State, formed of Delaware, entire, two counties from Virginia and eight counties from Maryland will soon be established. The proposed new State will have a population approximating three hundred thousand souls. As it is now, Delaware has but little over one-third that number, and yet has as large representation in the Senate of the United States as either New York or Pennsylvania.

EX-PRESIDENT JOHNSON has been very ill, but his recovery is announced. He suffered from a slight stroke of paralysis, with an acute attack of gravel. He embarks at once upon the political tide in Tennessee, being posted for several speeches within the coming fortnight. Doubtless, he will succeed in producing some temporary sensation, but results are likely to show that he has personally and politically outlived his once formidable power.

THE working-miners of the anthracite region of Pennsylvania have organized an association, or "General Council," to which is committed the supervision of the interests of that branch of labor. A journal has been projected, and is to be published as soon as the needful arrangements can be completed. Six counties are represented in the Council and others, included in that coal-field, may be added. When any four of these counties vote for a suspension, the Council will order a general strike for six months.

THE MYSTERY apparently involved in the failure of the Georgia Legislature to ratify the XVth Article—after it had been made evident that a majority in each of the Houses could be secured for it—is now sought to be explained in the Machiavellian tactics of Governor BULLOCK who, it is said, purposely engineered its defeat. Whatever the Governor's motives may have been, or the potency of his influence in bringing about the rejection of the Article, he will find himself relieved from office altogether, if the propositions now pending in Congress—either the Butler or Trumbull bills—for the re-reconstruction of that State, be matured into law before the adjournment.

THIRTEEN STATES have thus far ratified the XVth Article. Missouri has been counted among the assenting States, but must in fact be excluded. As with RIP VAN WINKLE'S pledge for reform, Missouri's first step counts for nothing. The Article was transmitted to Jefferson City by telegraph, the second section being omitted, and thus a part only of the amendment received the legislative sanction. The authorities of Missouri now have notice from the State Department that their action was fatally incomplete, but the sine die adjournment of the State Legislature must postpone the needful correction to next winter.

BY A TREATY made in 1866, a large domain in the extreme Southwest was secured to the Cherokee Indians. Nevertheless, since that date, other treaties have been made by our authorities, with various other Indian tribes, providing for their settlement upon this same domain. The Cherokees naturally and rightfully protest against this, as flagrantly bad faith toward themselves, and avow their resolution to resist such encroachments. And this is fairly an example of the haphazard, reckless and unprincipled Indian policy of our government for the past twenty years. Is it not high time for its reform? Should we otherwise be astonished by these Indian "outrages," which are usually nothing else than the barbarous expressions of Indian despair?

EDWARD BATES.

The death of EDWARD BATES, at the advanced age of seventy-six years, which occurred at St. Louis on Friday last, has already been announced. The deceased, though not of any brilliant school of public men, nor a citizen conspicuous for a very high order of talent in any direction, has left a good record and his name will long be recognized as that of one who discharged faithfully the duties of a protracted public and private life. Mr. BATES was a Virginian by birth, and surrounded by neither wealthy nor influential connections, he was early thrown upon the world, and by dint of hard labor and close application to study he acquired good education, and became a self-made man. In 1814 he removed to St. Louis, then a small village, where he studied law, and where, almost during his entire life, he resided, identifying himself with the interests of Missouri.

Mr. BATES, at different times, held the offices of Circuit Attorney, Attorney of the United States for the District of Missouri, member of the Convention which formed the first Constitution of the State, member of the State Legislature, Judge of the St. Louis Land Court, Member of Congress, and Attorney General of the United States in Mr. LINCOLN'S Administration. During the Administration of Mr. FILLMORE he was appointed Secretary of War, but declined to accept the office.

Mr. BATES was brought up a Jeffersonian Republican. At the time of the Presidential election in 1824 he was a supporter of Mr. CRAWFORD, and upon the election of Mr. ADAMS supported his administration. His single term in Congress was during the last two years of Mr. ADAMS' administration. After the formation of the Whig party he was always of that party, but when it ceased to exist he acted with the Republican party. In 1861 he was called into Mr. LINCOLN'S cabinet, and was among the very first to urge the crushing out of rebellion by the adoption of vigorous measures of war. He retired to private life on the re-election of President LINCOLN, and lived to cast his ballot for Gen. GRANT, and to see the country, in whose interest he was so warmly enlisted, in the full enjoyment of old-fashioned peace and prosperity.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD AND THE BELLIGERENT FISK.

It is not impossible that Mr. JAMES FISK, Jr., is just now engaged in a business which promises to result in some public advantage. He has addressed himself to an investigation of the real management of the Union Pacific Railway Company—and that seems to mean a formidable conflict with the most prominent railway corporation of the country. Mr. FISK'S casus belli is purely a private one, rising out of certain alleged transactions in the Union Pacific stock, but he finds it good strategy to carry the war into the enemy's camp and to its secret councils, and, whether before Congress or the Courts, he startles the financial world with the most extraordinary allegations, which do not seem to be altogether unsupported by proofs. Nevertheless, the statements of either party to this, as to other controversies, are, upon well-settled principles and uniform judicial experience, to be taken with more or less of allowance.

The New York press have lately occupied their broad columns with this business, printing the charges and counter-charges, affidavits pro and con, and averments, in purport quite broad enough to insure an interested public attention. For example, Mr. FISK alleges that two hundred and forty-seven miles of the road have been built by a concern known as the Credit Mobilier of America, while the contracts for the entire residue were given to Messrs. AMES and DAVIS, the former a Director of the Company; that the Credit Mobilier was but another name for an inside ring in the same Directory; that these contracts were correspondingly fraudulent; that the profits to these contractors have been so enormous that the Credit Mobilier has divided among its shareholders, to-wit: the ring of Directors, &c., as aforesaid, an amount in stocks and cash already equal to 752 per cent. on its paid capital, and that at least 500 per cent. more is yet to be distributed; and that these enormous profits from the construction of the work have not enured, as of right they ought, to the Union Pacific shareholders at large. All these allegations purport to be sustained by the sworn testimony of witnesses, who profess to be able to speak by the book.

—All which, if true, amounts to just this, so far as concerns the American public,—that we made a bad bargain with the Union Pacific Company, and there is probably no way in which we can legally escape from the existing agreement, and that Mr. FISK would very cheerfully arouse, if he could, such a degree of popular odium against that corporation as to promote effectively his own ends in the way of personal profit. His revelations, if worth anything, will serve but one solitary purpose of use—and that will be to put Congress and the people on their guard against similar blunders hereafter.

THE OFFICE-TENURE QUESTION.

The non-concurrence of the House in the Senate amendments to the repealing bill, remits this question again to the Senate, which will, doubtless, to-day insist upon its own action and ask for a Committee of Conference. There is reason to think that the line taken by the House will result in strengthening the Senatorial position, which now becomes one of privilege, and not readily to be surrendered at the capricious demand of the other body. We may look, therefore, for a stronger vote for insisting upon the amendment, than this secured when it passed the Senate. Moreover, the latter has something to gain and nothing to lose by the continuance of the present law, under the persistent refusal of the House to accept the offered compromise.

The opinions of the President are well known to his friends in either House. He would prefer a total repeal, but has distinctly avowed his willingness to accept the CONKLING amendment. His generosity in thus waiving his personal preferences, in the interests of harmony, and of the speedy reform of the public service in all of the Executive departments, is not the less gratefully recognized by the country, because the House declines to emulate his patriotic example. It seems as if there were, among both Senators and Representatives, a small clique of politicians who are altogether incapable of appreciating the true character of Gen. GRANT. He says to-day, as he has said before, that he does not like the compromise bill, but that he is willing to take it as it is—the best attainable adjustment of a difficult question. This much he declared last week, and he adheres, if we understand him at all, in as good faith to that compromise, as in frankness to the same objections. It ought to be easy enough to understand this sort of man—and plain people have really no difficulty in doing so. But, unfortunately, there are in Congress, as well as out of it, some men who are themselves so incapable of a magnanimous sacrifice of their own personal preferences, that they must cling tenaciously to the belief that the President is not to be taken at his word; that he would rejoice over the failure of the agreement upon which the Senatorial action has been founded. In this view, they are officiously super-serviceable in the attempt to outstrip the supposed wishes of General GRANT. We doubt if he thanks them for it, or feels at all flattered by their estimate of his official and personal sincerity.

We respect his sterling good sense too highly to doubt that the President contemplates, with a characteristically good-natured and quiet scorn, one unfortunate element from which even the Republican party is not by any means exempt. We mean these extraordinary officious would-be-friends of the Executive—we don't call them zealots, but rather sycophants, flunkies, parasites clinging to the skirts of power—these journalists and bogus politicians whose subserviency outruns alike their wit and the wishes of the dispenser of patronage. These were the men who, only the other day, we heard bawling themselves hoarse for the repeal of one of the wisest laws remitted to us by the fathers. Their zeal altogether outstripped the needs of the occasion, and was fitly rebuked by the manly candor of one who, President or man, dares always to do right, even if it involves the acknowledgment of a mistaken impression in which the whole country had shared. Those journals were still wet from the press, at the moment when the President was hastening to repair the oversight which they were eager to justify. There was a lesson in that business which Mr. BUTLER and his co-adjutors would profit now by remembering.

Mr. B. F. BUTLER is a shrewd politician, but he has now made a notable mistake. He asks for the President, not more than the President has always desired, but very much more than the President has avowed his willingness to accept and abide by. What was announced by Judge TRUMBULL, on this head, to the Senate and country, upon the President's authority, has been since reiterated by the President to Speaker BLAINE, of the House. Yet Mr. BUTLER has for the moment succeeded in leading off fifty of the one hundred and twenty Republican members, into a false position where, backed only by the opposition support, they are really confronting the co-ordinate branch and the practical advice of the President himself. And, if this be not the fact, the best that BUTLER can claim would be one corner in a triangular fight.

It is natural for Representatives to retain some unpleasant recollections of the scandalous duplicity of Senators, who deliberately invited the co ordinate branch into certain grave constitutional proceedings for the impeachment of ANDREW JOHNSON, and then, by eating their own words, betrayed the country, the House and themselves. It is very natural for Mr. BUTLER, and his coadjutors to remember, with perhaps vindictive indignation, the inexplicable and arrogant inconsistency of a body which succeeded, in the case of Georgia's Electoral vote, in blotting the records of Congress with a precedent which every one now deplores. But no multiplication of errors can make any wrong right. Nor is the question now separating the two Houses properly an occasion for satisfying the revenges of Representatives.

There was a majority of twenty among the Republican representatives for the compromise bill. The minority will not content themselves finally in the company of the opposition. We think that they will listen to wiser and more patriotic counsels, and ultimately concur with the Senate and with the President upon the amended bill. A day or two more will show.

THERE is something well worthy of consideration in the suggestion made by a New York journal, as follows:

Cuba has had wrongs enough, certainly, and no American can desire the success of the Spanish power against the Republican and Abolitionist revolutionists; but it is unfair to charge the present Liberal Government at Madrid, which but lately overthrew the Bourbon despotism, with the crimes committed by that despotism. The very hour the Liberals achieved success in Spain, they set about the work of conferring upon Cuba the rights which they had conquered for themselves. It is but just to bear these things in mind, even while we sympathize with every struggle against European domination on any part of American soil.

DO YOU BELIEVE IT?—A writer in Lippincott's Magazine, April number, says:

"For every man whose heart is broken—we use a phrase current in its romantic sense among women, and which among men denotes the state of mind revealed by profuse smoking and spasmodic devotion to billiards—twenty have their eyes opened and are on the whole considerably improved by the process. We forget to whom is due the credit of the remark that a man's usefulness generally dates from the time he loses his interest in women; but, without going so far, we are content to rest upon the conclusion of our own experience—that until a man has had one or two serious flirtations he is not to be relied on for earnest effort."

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

The Crow's Value to the Farmer.

Whatever wrong the Crow commits against the cultivators of the soil may, by a little painstaking, be materially lessened or wholly prevented. The benefits he confers are both numerous and important. During the time he remains with us he destroys, so says no less authority than Wilson, "myriads of worms, moles, mice, caterpillars, grubs, and beetles." Audubon also affirms that the Crow devours myriads of grubs every day of the year,—grubs which would lay waste the farmer's fields, and destroys quadrupeds innumerable, every one of which is an enemy to his poultry and his flocks. Dr. Harris also, one of the most faithful and accurate observers, in speaking of the fearful ravages sometimes wrought in our grass lands and gardens by the grub of the May-beetles, adds his testimony to the great service rendered by the Crow in keeping these pests in check. Yet here in Massachusetts, regardless of such testimony in their favor, we have nearly exterminated these birds, and the destructive grubs, having no longer this active enemy to resist their growth, are year by year increasing with a fearful persistence. We have seen large farms, within an hour's ride of Boston, in which, over entire acres, the grass was so completely undermined and the roots eaten away, that the loosened turf could be rolled up as easily as if it had been cut by the turfing-spade. In the same neighborhood whole fields of corn, potatoes, and almost every kind of garden vegetable, had been eaten at the root and destroyed. Our more intelligent farmers, who have more carefully studied out the cause of this unusual insect growth, have satisfied themselves that it is the legitimate result, the natural and inevitable consequence, of our own acts. Our short-sighted and murderous warfare upon the crow has interrupted the harmonies of nature, disturbed her well-adjusted balance, and let loose upon agriculture its enemies with no adequate means of arresting their general increase.—Atlantic Monthly for April.

MACHINE FOR MAKING CORN ROWS.

First mark your ground one way with a plow or sled of two or three runners at proper distance apart; then for crop marking, take a light pole of sufficient length to allow of five or six distances of rows to be marked upon it. At each of these marks—leaving one space at the end—attach a cord sufficiently strong to drag a stay, drawing or other chain heavy to make a visable mark. This you will find to be the cheapest and most expeditious way of marking corn ground, and in planting you will always find hands ready to drop the hoe and take up the marker. One hand at each end of the pole will mark rows much more correct than horses can be driven, and will mark ten or twelve rows at a round.

Such a marker I have had on my farm, and such missiles as we used to throw at "Johnnies in Dixie" would obliterate a row of corn from one end to the other.

YOUNG FARMER.

PRACTICAL RECEIPTS.

Remedy against Croton Bugs and Cock Roaches. Boil one ounce of poke root in one pint of water until the strength is extracted; mix the decoction with mulasses and spread it in plates in the kitchen or other apartments which are infested by these insects. All that have partaken of this luxury during the night will be found "organic remains" the next morning.

A Silvering Liquid, which has no poisonous quality, may be prepared by dissolving one part lunar caustic in eighteen or twenty parts of distilled water, adding one half part sal almoniac and two parts of hypo-sulphate of soda, and then mixing the clear liquid thus obtained with two parts of whiting. To use it, a portion of this liquid is poured into a dish and applied by means of a tooth brush, or any small brush, or a bit of rag, to the article thus to be silvered; and after a little rubbing a fine coating of silver will appear. After it has been rinsed off with water, it may be dried by means of a cloth with a little gentle rubbing.

Vegetable Stains.—The best method of removing stains from linen and cotton fabrics, produced by spilling wine or vegetable juices, consists in moistening the surface affected (previously wetted) with a solution of hypo-sulphate of soda, dissolved in hot water, and then adding on the point of a knife a little pulverized tartaric acid, and rubbing this well in. After the stain has disappeared the cloth may be washed out in lukewarm water, and when dry no trace of the stain will remain.

HOUSEHOLD RECEIPTS.

Apple Dumpling, baked.—Select nice tart apples, peal and core them, fill with sugar and a little cinnamon, make your paste, and cover each apple, bake in a shallow pan, eat with any sweet sauce.

Potato Pudding.—Boil one quart of potatoes, rub smooth, have ready half a pound of melted butter, six eggs, beaten to a froth, mix butter with half a pound of sugar, stir in eggs, half a pound of currants, one nutmeg, mix all well together, put in cloths and boil one hour, eaten with sauce.

Apple Pudding.—Take one pint of stewed, sifted apple, six eggs, half pint of milk, four ounces of butter; mix the apple and egg before the milk is put in; add rose water, spice and sugar to taste; bake in a rich crust.

Carrot Pudding.—A coffee-cupfull of boiled and strained carrots, five eggs, one ounce of butter and sugar each, cinnamon and rose water to your taste; bake without paste one hour.

Graham Biscuit.—Take one quart of Graham flour, and a little salt and a tablespoonful of melted butter; mix this with buttermilk, with a teaspoonful of soda added to the milk; mix them to the consistency of drop cakes; bake in a pan for twenty minutes in a quick oven.

Federal Pancakes—Take one quart of boiled rye flour, one quart of bolted Indian meal; mix it well, and stir it with a little salt into three pints of milk; mix to the proper consistency of pancakes, fry in lard and serve while warm.

Tea Cakes.—One pound of sugar, half pound of butter, two pounds of flour, three eggs, one gill of yeast, a little cinnamon and orange peel; bake fifteen minutes.

Beef Tea.—To make it properly, cut half pound of good lean beef into very thin slices, spread the slices in a hollow dish, and having poured over one pint and a half of boiling water, cover up the dish, and place it near the fire for half an hour, and then boil for about eight minutes; take off the scum and let it stand ten minutes, then ponr it off and season with a little salt. This tea is very useful when the stomach is in a weak, irritable state; it is good for infants, and nothing answers better as a breakfast for those who are sick in the morning.

To Stuff a Pig to Roast.—Boil the inwards tender, mince fine, and a half loaf of bread, half pound of butter, four eggs, salt, pepper, sage, summer savory and thyme. Mix the whole well together; stuff and sew up. If the pig be large let it be doing two hours and a half; bast with salt and water. Gravy for the same—half pound of butter; work in two spoonfuls of flour and one gill of wine, if agreeable.

Washington Items.

Postmaster General Cresswell declared to-day he would not leave one Democrat in office if he could find a competent Republican to fill the place.

Secretary Boutwell is instituting needed reforms in the Treasury in the manner of controlling patronage. He has issued an order requiring each female clerk to give her name, place of residence, by whom recommended, and whether she has a father, mother, brother, sister or husband employed in the department. The girls are also to undergo an examination, and only those who are capable clerks are to be retained.

FOUR couples in West Lebanon, N. H., stood up recently and went through the ceremony of a mock marriage "for the fun of the thing." After the ceremony had been performed before a large company it was found that the gentleman who performed the ceremony was a justice of the peace. It is thought that the marriage will have to be dissolved by the legislature. The justice of the peace acted out of the county for which he was commissioned, and has been fined $200. Several of the parties were engaged to other persons, and one, a professor in a seminary, was to have been married in a fortnight. One couple are said to have made up their minds to "accept the situation."

THE first rehearsal of the Boston Peace Festival was held on Monday. In response to the advertisement of Mr. Tourjee, a large number of ladies and gentlemen completely filled Bumstead Hall, and not a few were compelled to return home to await the opening of the second series of rehearsals, which are to follow next week. The hall contains something less than seven hundred seats, and not only were these filled, but double rows of gentlemen lined the walls. The enrollment books in the hands of Mr. Peck—each applicant being compelled to register his or her name and the part sung—showed the assemblage to be made up as follows: Sopranos, 314. altos, 101; tenors, 156; bassos, 220.

BILLIARDS have recently been brought to the attention of the Faculty of Knox College, Galesburg, Illinois, and a meeting has been held to determine whether the students should be allowed to keep up a club for playing the game. The President of the College stated that he saw no more harm in a game of billiards than of hand or football, so long as it was kept separate from drinking, betting or gambling of any kind. The conclusion was finally arrived at, that if the bye-laws of the association were framed so as to prohibit these vices the club would be permitted.

The Valley of Jehosaphat.

The efforts the Jews have made, and sufferings, losses and humiliations they have borne for the purpose of obtaining sepulture in the Valley of Jehosaphat, form a singular feature in human history. No other nation has ever thus struggled, not to live in their own land, but to be suffered to lay their dust therein. Many descriptions have been made of this marvellous place; but I confess none of them ever afforded me a notion of its actual appearance. Wandering alone past the fountain of Siloam and by the arid bed of Kedron, it suddenly opened to me a perfect mountain of graves—a hillside paved with sepulchral slabs. Each stone is small—so small as to lead to the conclusion that the bodies must be buried perpendicularly. At all events, if the multitude there interred were simultaneously to arise, they would form a crowd as dense and compact as it would be enormous. Short Hebrew inscriptions, some evidently of great age—are on all the stones; and these are laid together with intervals of only a few inches, as in our oldest churches. The slabs are almost on a level with the ground, and of equal height, so that it is literally one large pavement of death—an appalling, almost an overwhelming sight.

KEROSENE OIL.—The pyrometer, invented by the inspector of kerosene oil, in New York City, is described as follows: The instrument consists of a closed receptacle of water upon a stand, with a lamp under it. Into this receptacle a metalic cup containing the fluid to be tested is placed. The cup has a cover over it, level except at one place where it is elevated into a semi-globular dome. In the level part of the cover are two valves for the admission of air when it is required, and in one side of the dome is a small orifice. The testing process is as follows: A thermometer, resting in the oil to be tested, is affixed to the inside of the cup; the lamp is then lighted, and by warming the water it in turn warms the oil, which, when heated to a certain degree, emits a vapor of exceedingly explosive qualities. This vapor rises into the dome over the cup. When it can be ignited by a match thrust into the dome through its orifice, the oil has reached what is known as the vaporizing or flashing point. This point is ascertained by consulting the thermometer. The burning point, when the whole body of oil is ignited, is ascertained by continuing the process.

BRITISH newspapers display a singular genius for confusion in discussing American affairs. Even the Pall Mall Gazette mixes up Mr. A. T. Stewart, of New York, and Mr. George H. Stuart, of Philadelphia, together, so that neither of them would know himself or the other, informing us that Mr. A. T. Stewart, just appointed Secretary of the Treasury, "is a native of Lisburn, near Belfast, from whence he emigrated to America forty years ago in search of fortune. When the Lisburn landloom weavers were thrown out of work some years ago, during the cotton famine, he sent a cargo of food supplies to Ireland for their use. In 1866 Mr. Stewart, who is a Presbyterian, visited Dublin, and was entertained by that body. He has since been expelled from the church of which he was a member in New York for singing hymns, an innovation upon their 'psalm-singing,' but this proceeding increased his popularity in that city."

BAYARD TAYLOR has completed the translation of the first part of "Faust," and is now at work upon the much-discussed second part. The translation of the whole poem will probably be completed during the coming summer; but the explanatory notes and papers giving the sum of all important German criticism and comment on the poem will require some additional months for their preparation.

A SIGNIFICANT LETTER.

LOUISVILLE, March 22d, 1869.—Find enclosed P. O. order for * * * which you will please place to my credit, and send immediately half a gross of Blood Searcher, and a full supply of circulars.

The demand for your medicine is gradually increasing, and I believe will eventually take the place of other similar preparations, now being extensively advertised throughout Kentucky and the Southern States, but there is little advertising needed that will reach the masses. Circulars will do very well in the locality where the Blood Searcher is sold, but the greater number are only to be reached through the medium of a popular newspaper, a few insertions is all that is required. Let the people of Kentucky once know that DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER can be had at the Medicine and Toilet Depot, Louisville, Kentucky, and I guarantee a profitable return. I have an extensive acquaintance throughout Kentucky and the South, and though I claim not to be an exception to the generality of my fellows, I flatter myself that the name of W. W. WILLIAMS, as Agent for the Blood Searcher, will at least not lessen the demand, but on the contrary, will induce many to take hold of it, and when they have done so it will matter very little who is the Agent, or where it comes from. DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER will be the medicine they have tested and what they will want. The Blood Searcher is doing good work in this locality. There are numbers to whom I have recommended it for dyspepsia, and as a general Tonic, and in every case I have had a good report. There is a gentleman in business opposite my store who has been confined to his room since July last with scrofula, a physician attending every day, and getting no better. Soon after I received your first consignment I sent him one of your circulars, but it was some etime before I heard from him, and not until I sent Mr. Boyd over to see him did he conclude to try it. He is now getting well, and regrets that he did not adopt the remedy sooner. His case was as bad if not worse than that of Mr. Boyd, and will prove a valuable acquisition to the list of cures. Allow me to congratulate you on your removal to your new store, with the hope that it it will in no way detract from your former prosperity. Respectfully,

W. W. WILLIAMS.

To DR. KEYSER, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher is sold by the gross, dozen or single bottle, AT HIS NEW MEDICINE STORE, No. 67 LIBERTY STREET, one door from Sixth.

Consulting Rooms, No. 120 Penn street.

THE TRYING SEASON.

The searching winds, the cold, drizzling rains, the heavy fogs, and occasional warm and moist days of March, render it upon the whole, the most unhealthy month of the year. Its depressing influences are especially unfavorable to invalids, and thousands of persons with feeble constitutions, who have borne the winter bravely, break down in the first month of Spring. The variations of temperature and cold east winds are a serious trial to the dyspeptic and bilious, whose symptoms they invariably aggravate. Intermittent fever is also rife wherever there is evolvable poison in the water or the soil. To enable the system to combat these evils, there is nothing like a good vegetable tonic and among this class of medicines HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stand supreme. Medical men prescribe it in preference to any of the tonic preparations of the pharmacopoia. They are aware that the ordinary tincture and extracts are all based upon cheap alcohol, which is surcharged with an acrid essential oil, and absolutely poisonous. They know, on the other hand, that the rectified essence of the finest rye grown in this country is the sole spirituous ingredient of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, and that the vegetable medicinal elements of which it is composed are of rare efficacy. Hence, it has the confidence of physicians, and finds its way into hospitals where no other proprietary medicine is sanctioned.

A course of the BITTERS is especially recommended to persons of delicate habit, of both sexes at this season. In the fever and ague districts of the West and South, quinine has been almost universally discarded as a chologogue, and this valuable antidote to malarious disorders adopted in its stead. A double gain is realized by the change, for the Bitters, unlike that dangerous alkaloid, are agreeable to the palate, and their curative effect is much more permanent.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, March 27, 1869.

The unusual demand for money, and especially for circulation, at the money centres and larger commercial cities, in the present expanded condition of all the banks, is really surprising, and shows at once what a large amount of bank circulation has been absorbed by the Southern States since last year, and how disastrous it is to the ordinary course of business, as it was last fall at Chicago with grain speculation. The commercial community, and in fact everybody else, has now to suffer for it. Liberal shipments of grain last fall would have released a large amount of capital now locked up in the north-west, would have given plenty of exchange to pay our indebtedness in Europe during last fall, and caused a natural decline in the gold premium, and through heavy purchases of bonds made Europe our debtor now, or forced them to ship their surplus gold now laying idle in the banks of England and France. Business is almost at a stand still. By the unnatural depression of the gold premium, exports are merely nominal and producers may as well keep what they have, instead of selling it for less than what it can be produced for. This keeps a large amount of money in transit and away from the money centres, where it generally flows after or immediately following the spring purchases of Southern and Western merchants. Another drawback on financial matters is the uncertainty in regard to the policy to be pursued by the Secretary of the Treasury in particular, and the action of Congress in regard to the re distribution of currency in the Southern and Western States, which is a matter of great importance and demands immediate attention. The opening through to California of the Pacific Railroad no doubt will draw a large trade to the western States, and banking facilities should be afforded there as well as in Massachusetts.

The past week has been characterized by an unusual inactivity of business in Government bonds and a steadiness in prices which is truly remarkable. Holders of Governments would rather submit to exorbitant charges of interest than part with their securities, although there is nothing that would warrant higher prices for some time to come. European markets are well stocked, and the large financial institutions are hostile to any encouragement in the further introduction of our bonds in the markets there. Their own financial bubbles require all their capital to keep them from bursting at this moment, and the natural course of speculation is favorable there to a considerable decline.

Stocks are dull and weak, maintained only at their present prices because there are no buyers, and holders may as well keep them as sell them at a loss.

Gold keeps steady at 130¼@131 and is scarce on the market, holders preferring to submit to heavy charges than part with it at present quotations, being confident that as soon as money gets easier rates will advance.

In our local stocks the market is quiet with almost nothing doing. Oil and Railroad stocks are offered, but no takers can be found even at concessions.

Quotations as received by Ph. R. Mertz: Gold, 131; Silver, 125; Eighty-one's, 115¾; Five Twenties, 1862, 118⅛, do 1864, 114; do 1865, 116¼; do 1865, Consols, 113; do 1867, 113⅛; do 1868, ——; Ten Forties, 105⅛; New York Central, 161¼; Erie, ——; Reading, 91⅜; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, 123; Ohio & Mississippi, 32¼; Michigan Southern, 96⅛; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 89¼; Chicago & Rock Island, 131¼; Chicago & North Western, 84⅛; Chicago & North Western Preferred, 92⅜; Adams Express Company, 58¾; Merchants Union Express, 15½; Pacific Mail, 90¼; Western Union Telegraph Company, 37¾; Gregory, 2,85; Quartz Hill, 89; Corydon, —; Smith & Parmlee, 1,55; W. [By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 27, 1869.

The Money market was very stringent with a pressing demand from brokers. The rate for call loans ranged from 7 per cent. currency, to 7 per cent. gold, and 7 per cent. currency, with a commission of 1-12 to ¼ per cent. The orders from the interior for currency continue heavy, while some bankers here are expecting a call from the Comptroller next week, and have notified for a heavy amount of loans for Monday. Commercial paper is pressing on the street and the best names are offered at 10@12 per cent.

The Bank statement shows a heavy loss in specie and deposits, arising from payments made into the Sub-Treasury on account of customs: Loans $263,903,589, increase $811,287; specie $12,078,722, decrease $3,139,584; circulation $34,777,814, increase $36,504; deposits $180,113,910, decrease $3,381,089; legal tenders $50,555,-103, decrease $219,771. Sterling is dull at 8@8¼ per cent. for prime bills. Gold is a shade easier, opened at 131¼, advanced to 131¼, declined to 130⅞ and closed at 131.

Governments are lower, foreign bankers appearing in the market as sellers, and some round lots were offered at quotations Coupons of '81, 115¾@116; do. '62, 118¼@118¾; do. '64, 114@114¼; do. '65, 116@116¼; new do., 113@113¾; do. '67, 113@113¾; do. '68, 113¾; 10-40s, 105@105¼; Pacific Sixes, 104¼@104⅝.

State Bonds are dull; Missouris 87¼; old Tennessees 65⅞@66; new do. 64@64¼; old North Carolinas 63@63¼; new do, 57¼@58.

Stocks have been heavy all day, and though business was light the prices are generally lower. New York Central and Pacific Mail are still the leading features, the former declining fully 2 per cent. and the latter advancing the same amount. The continued stringency in money is driving many operators from the market for the time being. There is, however, a very general anticipation of a strong tendency towards speculation next week and among the stocks mentioned as likely to figure conspicuously are Rock Island, Ohio & Mississippi, Northwestern, Mariposa and Quicksilver.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, SATURDAY, March 27, 1869.

The markets in a general way, present but little that is new or important, with the exception that there seems to be a little better feeling in some branches of business, and the indications are favorable for a general improvement within a short time. Grain is dull and neglected and the same is true of Flour, while Provisions, compared with last week, are a shade stronger, both here and in the West. Sugars have stiffened up considerably within the past week under the influence of the advices in regard to Cuban insurrection, and prices have advanced materially. Other articles are quiet and devoid of anything that is really new or worth of special notice.

LITERARY.

No character in the New Testament, except the Redeemer of the world, has been so much admired, and made the subject of so much criticism, as the Apostle Paul. The life and epistles of St. Paul have been the theme of many volumes, and of countless sermons, lectures and critical papers. It is no wonder that such a character is held up frequently to public view! The mere outline history of his life, sketched in the Acts of the Apostles, presents him as an extraordinary personage; but his letters to the churches embody the hidden truths of Christianity in language of grandeur and sublimity. Possessed of a gigantic mind, naturally, and of the highest culture, he was chosen by the Almighty as an instrument to unfold great fundamental truths of the divine economy of grace. Of the numerous works of modern date, of the great apostle, "Conybeare and Howson's Life and Epistles of St. Paul," just issued by CHARLES SCRIBNER & Co., New York, is by far the most exhaustive and complete work of the kind. Editions purporting to be copies of the work have been published, but they are unabridged. This is the two volumes of the London edition in one, with the text and notes entire, and the maps and illustrations, making full one thousand pages, and for the low price of three dollars. Ministers will find this work valuable and useful for their pulpit preparations, and divinity students, and Sunday School teachers, will receive great benefit by consulting it. The Christian public are much indebted to the publishers for this work, and, indeed, for other excellent works of a similar type.

It is utterly impossible to form an intelligent estimate of a monthly or weekly illustrated publication, by a single number. Some idea may be had of its character, but nothing more. The truth of these observations is happily illustrated in binding together the issues of one year of Harper's Weekly and Harper's Bazar. The same is true of Harper's Magazine. The matter of these serials is choice, and the products of able writers, and the illustrations chaste, and in the highest style of the pictorial art. Historical events are illustrated as they occur, with life-like beauty. The thrilling events of the late rebellion are grandly illustrated, especially in the Weekly, and run through the issues of that momentous period. Almost twenty years ago the Magazine was started. Fiction, biography, belles-lettres, travels, history, science and art, are all represented in its pages, and the designer and engraver has been liberally employed to illustrate the text of many of the articles. The Weekly, now in the thirteenth volume, is truly a journal of civilization, and is without doubt the best illustrated weekly in this country. The editorials have been marked for ability and practical worth. The Bazar is without a peer, and, though but a little over a year old, already has an immense circulation. It is one of the best publications for a family that can be found. Happy are they who possess the entire issue of this work, as it is an ornament in bound form for the center table.

NEW BOOKS IN PRESS.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & Co., Philadelphia, have in press and will soon have ready a volume of Poems by George H. Boker, containing "Konigsmark, the Legend of the Hounds," and other new poems. They have commenced the publication of Charles Reade's Novels, an illustrated edition. Globe editions of the complete poetical works of Milton, Pope, Cowper, Woodsworth, Crabbe, Campbell and Coleridge will soon appear. "Lost in Paris, and Other Tales," "Queer Discourses on Queer Proverbs," "The Christian Worker; a Call to the Laity," "Cottage Piety Exemplified," and "Curious Myths of the Middle Ages" are also commenced.

FIELDS, OSGOOD & Co., Boston, announce the publication in April of "The Ingham Papers;" "Lucille," Diamond Edition; "Poems, Lyric and Idyllic," by E. C. Stedman; "Alice of Monmouth, an Idyl of the Great War," same author; "Vacation—Adventures in the Wilderness," "Two Years Before the Mast," "On the Wing," "Recreations of a Country Parson." For the month of May we are promised "Our New Way Round the World," "Men, Women and Ghosts," by Miss Phelps, author of "Gates Ajar;" "Oldtown Folks," by Mrs. H. B. Stowe; "Malbone; an Oldport Romance."

HARPER & BROTHERS, New York, have just published "Guiccioli's Recollections of Lord Byron," and "Trollope's Phineas Finn, the Irish member." They have commenced the publication of Charles Reade's novels, in paper covers, "Hard Cash," "Griffith Gaunt," "It is Never too Late to Mend," and "Love Me Little, Love Me Long," are out. "Scott's F[illegible]ing in American Waters" is just ready. In press [illegible]race's Malay Archipelago," [illegible]nah Muloch Craik, author of "The Woman's Kingdom," will have the first chapter of a new novel in Harper's Magazine, probably for May.

CHARLES SCRIBNER & Co., New York, have commenced the publication of an illustrated Library of wonders. "The Wonders of Optics," illustrated with seventy engravings, on wood, and "Thunder and Lightning," containing thirty-nine engravings, are ready. Will soon be published the "Wondess of Heat," to contain ninety illustrations. Other volumes of this series are in course of preparation. We expect these works to have a wide sale, as they are doubtless worthy of the praise awarded.

APRIL MAGAZINES.

However excellent the magazines of the previous months of the year have been, the April monthlies are fully up to their predecessors. We commence with Harper's Magazine. As usual the number is affluent in illustrated articles on subjects of living interest. Valuable information as well as entertainment are embodied in the papers entitled "The Freaks of Lightning," "An Artist in Alaska," and "The Great South Earthquakes of 1868," "The Secretary with a Secret," and "My Chum's Story," are stories of merit, and will repay reading. The Editor's Easy Chair and Editor's Drawer are chuck full of spicy things. The thoughtful will appreciate the Record of Current Events. The publishers announce the commencement of a new novel in the May number by Miss Muloch, to be called "A Brave Lady."

The Atlantic opens with additional chapters of "An Oldport Romance." The articles of this number are certainly more practical than in some numbers of this dignified monthly, and are timely, too. The solid papers are admirably relieved by such piquant and well-told stories as "The Foe in the Household," and "Doorstep Acquaintance. Interest should be felt by us in these parts for the graphic sketch of the "Carpet-Bagger in Pennsylvania," and at the vanity illustrated in the picture of the North-West. Much attention being drawn to the Pacific Railroad, the article of Mr. Bowles will be enjoyed. The article entitled "A Ride with a Mad Horse in a Freight Car" is rich and racy. The usual good taste is displayed in the literary notices.

Lippincott's Magazine grows better and better. The April number is capital, and full of interesting papers. Variety in the articles is an excellent feature of this issue, substantial and practical topics sandwiched with spicy stories. Few can read "Hans Breitmann in Politics" without detecting the poetic power of Mr. Leland. The old but popular theme "Women," is treated in fine style, and is quite readable. "Sam's Sermon" will find plenty of admirers. The other papers and dainty poems will bear reading. The department entitled "Our Monthly Gossip" is admirably conducted. The typography is very fine and challenges admiration.

The Galaxy, notwithstanding so much space is occupied with serial stories, is varied and full of interest. Reade's novel, "Put Yourself in his Place," is growing in interest, and is widely read. "Cypher" is concluded, which is supplemental, and gives the number a bulky size. Articles of great practical value, and by eminent writers, are found in this number. Prof. Draper's article, "Animal Food," is of this type. Much may be learned in Justin McCarthy's "Exile World in London." It is hardly necessary to call attention to "To Marry, or Not to Marry," as few are not interested. The short stories are well told. Few will overlook "Nebulæ," by the Editor. It is surprising how this monthly has risen in favor since the present publishers took hold of it.

Hours at Home for April is worthy to occupy home hours for its substantial features, as well as high toned matter. Live questions are discussed with marked ability, such as "Prison Discipline," "Punishment; its meaning and ground." Sterling articles like "Books and Reading," "Spiritual Problems," are of intrinsic value to the thoughtful. The sketch of Bismarck, the friend of this country, is well drawn. Many will enjoy "Syrian Rambles" and "Sevastopel." The serials—"Motherless Girls," and "Christopher Krog," are stories of merit, the former by the author of "Mary Powell." The excellent moral tone of this monthly is commendable.

Of Our Young Folks we have spoken with extravagant praise, simply because it is worthy of it. The April number is up to the standard, indeed excels in some respects. The publishers are lavishing in expenditures, which will in the end pay. The letters of William Henry, by Mrs. Diaz, and Mr. Aldrich's "Story of a Bad Boy" increases in interest. Mrs. Agassiz's paper, "The World we Live On," is of the right ring for young folks. But the same may be said of "Wrecks and Wreckers," "Gardening for Girls," and other articles. We are promised some rich things for May. "A Boy's Visit to the Coal Mines of Pennsylvania" ought to be popular with our young people out here. Don't forget to read carefully the installment of Mr. Aldrich's "Story of a Bad Boy" in this number, d'ye hear boys and girls. The offer to send free four numbers is still open.

Our Own is a new candidate for public favor, published by Gillin, M'Gingan & Griffin, 701 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, at $2 per year, conducted by Fannie Warner. It is designed for the home circle, especially, as the character of the matter in the first (April) number indicates. Considerable attention will be given to departments for children and lovers of music. The editress is a well-known magazine writer, accomplished and popular. Most of the articles are original and quite readable.

Putnam is as usual freighted with good things. "To-Day; a Romance" is continued in three chapters. The tales are varied and interesting, among which we have "A Stranded Ship," "My Man Anthony." European affairs are referred to in the articles entitled "Incidents in the Spanish Struggle," and "The Eastern Question," and John Bright is presented in glowing terms. Many will enjoy the incidents and achievements of Ex-President Johnson and Parson Brownlow, in Tennessee. The literary notices are capital.

Tilton's Journal of Horticulture is an authority that can be consulted with confience, to find anything relating to horticulture up to the most progressive views of the day. Its illustrations are much above the average, and the text and paper very fine. We are glad to know it is appreciated.

THE SALT LAKE CITY papers announce the arrival at Ogden of the track layers of the Union Pacific Railroad. Ogden is near Salt Lake, and is the point of divergence of the track to the north on the new route, instead of the line as originally surveyed, through the capital of Utah. The completion of the road to this point has stirred up the Mormon chiefs to take active measures for building the branch to Salt Lake city, and the territorial surveyor and other dignitaries have gone out to run experimental lines.

THE ECONOMY BUTTER CO.

ask the attention of all interested in the reduction of the extravagant cost of Butter, to their practical and economical system of making pure prime Butter by the aid of the

EXTRACT OF BUTTER PLANT.

A brief allusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the renowned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while sojourning for a short time on the Brazilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using, in the preparation of their food, a peculiar oil, which, upon examination, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, however, he ascertained that it was simply a substance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner, from a rich and luxuriant plant that grew spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country. A few years since an eminent French chemist, while on a professional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant. The formula for its preparation, and the Sole Right for its sale in this country are the exclusive property of this Company, by whom it was purchased from the original discoverer. We claim for this remarkable, yet simple and perfectly harmless preparation—

1st.—That by its use a net gain of from 50 to 200 per cent. is made in the manufacture of Butter.

2d.—That Butter, which from age or whatever cause, may be strong, rancid, streaked or coarse-grained, and comparatively useless for general use, by the aid of this Extract, is restored to its original freshness and sweetness, fine-grain, and even color.

3d.—By the use of this Extract, one pound of delicious, fresh Butter is actually made from one pint of milk.

4th.—That a pure and excellent table Butter can be made, at a cost of from 15 to 20 cents per pound. The chief expense wherein being Butter, which is the essential base.

5th.—That Butter manufactured by the aid of this Extract is equally in every respect to the best Butter made by the City Councils will meet this afternoon.

Police circles were remarkably quiet Saturday.

The streets were crowded with pedestrians on Saturday afternoon.

Joseph Jefferson left the city yesterday. He had a very profitable engagement here.

Elsewhere we print the programme for the grand concerts of this and to-morrow evenings.

A reduction of fifty men from the present force on duty at the Allegheny Arsenal has been ordered by the President.

The death warrant of Lewis Lane, the murderer, arrived in this city yesterday, and is now in the possession of Sheriff Cluley.

A mad dog was shot in Allegheny on Thursday last. It gave unmistakeable evidence of hydrophobia of no mild character.

Mayor's Court.—There were thirty-two cases disposed of at the Mayor's Court yesterday morning. Five of the victims were committed and the remaining number paid their fines.

The cross of St. Pauls Cathedral was lighted on Saturday night, the eve of Easter Sunday. A man had to ascend to the top to apply the light, the electricity arrangement proving a failure.

Collided.—A freight train on the Connellsville Railroad collided with a coal train near Glenwood Station, on Thursday evening last. Four of the coal cars were wrecked, but beyond this the damage was slight.

Arrangements on a liberal scale are being made for a grand fair to be held by the ladies of St. Agnes church, Soho, at Miller's Hall, corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Gist street, to commence on Monday evening next.

Fire at Irwin's Station.—Thursday evening of last week, the drug and dry goods store of Mr. Jacob Goehering, at Irwin's Station, Westmoreland county, was destroyed by fire. It is thought that the building was set on fire by an incendiary.

Obituary.—The estimable wife of John S. Lambie, Esq., departed this life yesterday morning. She was a true Christian lady, endeared to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who will be deeply pained to receive the announcement of her death.

Ankle Dislocated.—Mr. Rees, a carpenter, while engaged at his work on Irwin street, Saturday afternoon, had one of his ankles badly dislocated by a heavy piece of timber, which fell upon it. He was removed to his residence, where the injury received proper medical attention.

False Alarm.—Saturday evening about ten o'clock an alarm of fire was struck from one of the Fire Alarm boxes in the Sixth ward, Allegheny, but owing to the failure of the line to work properly the exact number of the box could not be ascertained. The engines turned out promptly but were not in action, as the alarm proved to be false.

Allegheny Mayor's Office.—Mayor Drum had twenty five cases, an unusually large number, before him yesterday morning. The majority of them were drunks, who paid the usual fine. The remainder were sent to the Hill. During the day six additional cases of drunkenness were reported, the victims being locked up until this morning.

Etna Iron Works.—As will be seen by refering to our advertising columns of this morning, the time honored house of Messrs. Spang, Chalfant & Co., have removed their warehouse to the corner of Sandusky street and the West Penn. and Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railways, Allegheny city, where they will be pleased to see their friends as well as all others who may want anything in their line.

Boarding House Robbery.—Mr. James McAlone, a boarder at No. 38 Pride street, Sixth ward, was robbed of one hundred dollars on Saturday. He went to his work Saturday morning, leaving the money, one hundred dollars, in his trunk, and when he returned in the evening he discovered that the trunk had been broken opon and the money abstracted. A fellow boarder is suspected.

Officers Elected. At a stated meeting of Mechanics' Lodge, No. 9, I. O. O. F., held Saturday evening, March 27th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: N. G., John A. Prince; V. G., C. F. Marratta; Treasurer, Capt. Andrew Miller; Secretary, Geo. Booth; Assistant Secretary, Wm. A. McRoberts; Trustee of Hall, Andrew Humbert; Trustees of Lodge, A. A. Anderson, John Barnes, and John Baird, Jr.

Easter Sunday.—The services in the Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran churches yesterday were specially interesting, the day being Easter Sunday. At the Cathedral Pontifical High Mass was celebrated, Rt. Rev. M. Domenec officiating, and some forty priests, deacons and clerks assisting at the altar. The Cathedral brass band was in attendance and the choir was unusually strong. Hundreds of Protestants were in attendance, attracted by curiosity to witness the pomp and splendor of celebrating Easter in the Catholic Church.

The Attention of the Allegheny Police was called to a crowd of loafers who were lounging around the Mission Church, on Liberty street, Fourth ward, last evening. No arrests were made, however, from the fact that before the police could get within reach, the loafers, warned of their approach, had scattered in all directions. The pleasant weather of the last few days has developed the loafing nuisance with surprising rapidity in both cities. It seems to be one of those necessary evils which cannot be cured, and will have to be endured.

Fast Driving.

William Dunn and Andrew Moon, (not officer Moon) were arrested yesterday for furious driving. It appears that they hired a horse and buggy from Mr. Dunn, stating that they wanted to attend a funeral, but instead of going to a funeral they went to a grog shop, where they took on an over dose of benzine, and then started out for a drive. When arrested, they were going up Wylie street, with the horse under a dead run, and were plying the whip freely. They were provided with quarters in the lock-up and will have a hearing this morning.

Quarter Session—Full Bench.

SATURDAY, March 27.—The jury in the kissing case of Commonwealth vs. Sam'l McKain, previously reported, returned a verdict of "not guilty," and directed that the defendant pay the costs.

SENTENCES.

After disposing of a number of motions, the following sentences were passed:

Michael Kaufman, tried and convicted of murder of the second degree for killing Eddie Miller, was called up for sentence. Judge Stowe, who pronounced the sentence, remarked to the prisoner that it was only through the magnanimity of the jury that he had not been convicted of the higher degree of crime; that the facts in the case and the circumstances with which it was surrounded would have warranted the jury in finding a verdict of murder of the first degree, and the Court feels that the severest penalty of the law should be imposed. The prisoner was then sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and to undergo an imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary at labor for the period of twelve years.

David R Cole, convicted of the larceny of a pocket book from Wm. Haynes, of Rock Point, Beaver county, on the 13th of February last, was sentenced to the Penitentiary for one year.

Michael Cella, convicted of an attempt to commit buggery, was sentenced to pay a fine of $300, and to undergo three years imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary.

Charles A. Hunter, convicted of the larceny of a pair of shoes, was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment in the county jail.

Thomas Murphy, convicted of fornix et. cet., was sentenced to pay a fine of thirty dollars, the additional sum of twenty-five dollars and one dollar and fifty cents per week for four years.

Shipments of Coal.

The rivers commenced rising on Friday morning, and by Saturday evening the Monongahela had reached a height of fifteen and the Allegheny sixteen feet. The coal dealers who ship to parts below had been anticipating the rise and were prepared to take advantage of it.

Following is a list of tows, their destination and the amount shipped. This does not include floating boats, of which there are a number ready to depart. Some of the tows got away on Saturday, and the remainder will depart to-day.

A Musical Feast.

The solemn and austere season of Lent is over and the amusements will be enjoyed with new zest by the people, who abstained from pleasure during the dark and dismal forty days of fasting and prayer. The transition from the Lenten season to that of enjoyment will be marked this and to-morrow evenings at the Academy of Music by the grand Old Folks' concerts to be given under the auspices of Prof. Wm. Lawton, by some three-score or more of our most talented home performers. The programme has been arranged with exquisite good taste, and on it we find in solos, duets, trios, quartettes and choruses the names of such finished vocalists as Misses Jones, Wallace, Houston, Patterson and Good, and Messrs. Lawton, Rinehart, Robinson, Dihm, Cuthbert, Williams and Lutton—certainly a brilliant array of home talent. The sale of reserved seat has commenced at the principal music stores, and has thus far been attended with much success. The proceeds are to be devoted to the purposes of Post 117 G. A. R. We trust there will be an old-fashioned attendance at the Old Folks' musical levees. The programme will be different each night.

Stealing a Ride.

A pair of young hopefuls, Willie Hahn and Max Burgher, who had been to Sunday School at the Central Presbyterian Church, corner of Sixth avenue and Smithfield street, yesterday, when the school was dismissed, came out of Church, and finding Rev. Mr. Hughes' carriage standing in front of the door and nobody in it, resolved to take a ride. They got into the vehicle and started the horse, but had no proceeded far when the horse became unmanageable and ran against a lamp post, breaking a wheel of the barouche. A gentlemen, who was passing, caught the horse, and was informed by the urchins, neither of whom was over twelve years of age, that the horse and barouche belonged to their father, and that they were taking them home. A larger boy then came up and proposed to drive the horse home, and the little fellows finding that they were likely to be caught in the scrape, jumped out of the vehicle and ran away, leaving the larger boy in the lurch. After contemplating the situation for a few moments he also abandoned the "turnout" and reported the case and what he knew of it to Capt. Graham, at the watch house, and before he had finished telling his story the horse and carriage were brought to the watch house by two boys who found them on the street. A few moments later Mr. Hughes' son came to the watch house, claimed the horse and barouche, and took them away. The boys will probably be arrested.

Successfully Worked Up—An Alleged Robber Arrested—Recovery of Goods.

Saturday afternoon detectives Irwin and Herron, of Alderman Strain's police, arrested Jim Tartz, a well known character, on suspicion of being engaged in the robbery of the dry goods store of Messrs. Bates & Bell, Fifth avenue. The robbery occurred on the night of Friday, the 19th inst., when goods to the amount of several hundred dollars were carried off. The method by which the thief gained access to the store was not known at the time, but the case was placed in the hands of the detectives named, who discovered in a few days afterwards a portion of the goods in the hands of some women of doubtful reputation. Following this clue they found that the women had purchased the articles from Tartz, whom, after a close watch of several days, they succeeded in arresting in a house in Morrison's Court, off Virgin alley, at four o'clock Saturday afternoon. They also found a large portion of the stolen goods in the house, which they took along with with the prisoner to the Alderman's office. They are on the track of the remainder and expect to secure everything in a few days. Tartz, when taken before Alderman Strain, waived a hearing and was committed to jail for trial in default of bail in the sum of one thousand dollars.

An Elegant Pulpit.

Mr. W. W. Wallace has just completed one of the handsomest pieces of church furniture we have ever seen, it is a pulpit of marble marbleized, and anything more elegant in appearance or finish it would indeed be hard to imagine; it is composed of ten or a dozen pieces, each an imitation of a different kind of stone, verd antique and serpentine, broccatel, California, Tennessee and Pennsylvania black and grey, all so beautiful that it is hard to believe that they are merely plain white marble thus disguised; but such a belief is scarcely necessary for this new article is very durable and is not at all likely to unmask for a century to come. The church, the elegance of which is to be so much enhanced by this pulpit is that of the United Brethren at Johnstown, and we are afraid we must acknowledge that all Pittsburgh will not, when it is gone, contain a piece of church furniture equal to it. It is now to be seen at Mr. Wallace's warehouse on Liberty street.

Teachers Institute.

The ninth annual meeting of the Allegheny County Teachers Institute will be held in the hall of the Fourth ward School House, beginning this (Monday) morning and continue till Friday evening, April 2d. The meeting promises to be one of the most interesting and profitable of any that have preceded it. The Executive Committee have secured the services of Mrs. Mary Howe Smith, from the State Normal School, Oswego, New York, a lady of rare culture and high reputation, who will deliver a lecture each day during the meeting of the Institute.

The first session will be held this morning at ten o'clock a. m., and there will be three sessions each day. After the Institute is organized the first thing in order will be the election of officers, and the appointment of a Committee on Resolutions. Rev. Mr. Caruthers will deliver an address, subject, "Religious Culture in Schools" during the first session.

Westminster College—Contest.

The annual contest for intellectual and literary priority between the Philo and Adolphic Societies of Westminster took place on the closing day of the session, Wednesday, the 24th inst. The exercises opened to a large audience and held their attention for almost six hours, with no apparent show of weariness. The award, which was announced at the close, assigned everything to the gentlemen who represented the Philos, and was greeted by the latter with wild applause. Justice requires us to state, however, that the performances of the Adolphics were good. It is quite likely had the declamation of the latter been a more agreeable subject and equally well presented as it was, it would have secured the award of the judges. The essay and oration were also well prepared, and possibly the latter in the delivery was better than that of the successful gentlemen.

Board of Health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held yesterday afternoon at the office of the Directors of the Poor, on Fourth street.

A resolution relative to the nuisance at the "Point" was adopted, and a committee appointed to take the proper steps for abating it by providing a boat for the use of "night soilers."

The matter of procuring an office for the Board was discussed, and it was decided to rent a room on Fourth avenue for that purpose.

Mr. Weaver, Meat Inspector, was present, having a report in detail of the business transacted by him since his appointment, but failed to present it to the Board, consequently no action was taken upon it.

It was resolved to publish a notice requiring all persons to clean up and remove all dirt and rubbish from their premises.

MORTGAGES.

Eight mortgages were also filed for record on Saturday.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. Jefferson concluded an engagement of two weeks at the Opera House Saturday night, during which "Rip Van Winkle" was presented every night with one exception. His engagement was the most successful of the season, both as a matter of profit to the manager and pleasure to the patrons of the establishment. This evening Miss Charlotte Thompson commences an engagement of two weeks, on which occasion will be presented "Lady of Lyons." The entertainment will conclude with "Grimshaw, Bagshaw and Bradshaw."

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The Old Folks Concert, for the benefit of Post 117, G. A. R., which takes place this evening, at the Academy of Music, promises to be a brilliant entertainment, and a complete success in every respect. The programme, which will be found in our Amusement Directory this morning, is a most excellent one, and it will be carried out to the letter. Reserved seats can be obtained at Mellors and at Barr, Knabe & Buettler's without extra charge.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—Mr. Williams announces a number of new stars for this week, and he has also effected an engagement for one week longer with the Blanchards.

AMERICAN THEATRE.—Mr. Smythe, Manager of the American Theatre, has just returned from the East and announces engagements with the Dashwood Sisters, who will positively appear this evening. A number of other attractive names are on the bills for to-night.

Meeting of the Survey Committee.

The Survey Committee of City Councils met on Saturday afternoon, the Chairman, Mr. Chislett, presiding. A plan for Liberty avenue was adopted, as was also one submitted for the straightening of Centre avenue. The City Regulator was authorized to at once organize three corps for surveying during the present spring and coming summer. A resolution was adopted instructing the Regulator to notify by advertisement all property holders who propose laying out new streets, lanes or alleys, within city limits, that unless done so under the approval of the Survey Committee, they will be made subject to any change that Committee may decide to be necessary in the future. The importance of this resolution will be fully appreciated by those who propose buying property fronting on streets not regularly laid out or planned by the proper authorities. Other business of importance was transacted, which will probably be reported to Councils to-day.

Fatal Accident.

An accident occurred at "Eliza" Furnace, Laughlin's station, on the Connellsville railway, about four o'clock P. M. on Saturday, resulting in the death of John Brady, an employe at the furnace. He had been superintending the switching off of some lime cars, which had been attached to the train. After the cars had been detached, Brady was following them up, when the train from which they had been uncoupled, came up behind, and struck him. He fell across the track and the wheels passed over him, cutting off both his legs and otherwise mangling him. He was removed to his boarding house, near the furnace, where he expired soon after midnight.

Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body, Saturday evening, and a verdict of accidental death was rendered.

Deceased was about twenty-four years of age and unmarried. He has an uncle living in this city. His parents are in Ireland.

The Elevator Again.

It has been so long since we have heard of an outrage at the Elevator that we were led to believe that the vigilence of the present police force and the speedy and severe punishment imposed upon offenders by the mayor, had deterred the "roughs" who frequent that locality from making any further demonstration, but an incident which occurred on Saturday evening about seven o'clock indicates otherwise. At the time stated a gentleman and his wife were going up Washington street, and while crossing the bridge over the railroad a ruffian stepped up and struck the gentleman on the head with a stone or slung shot and knocked him down, where he lay insensible for some time. The lady called for help and the villain ran away.

The number of outrages committed in that locality would justify the mayor in placing an officer at that point.

Killed on the Railroad.

A telegram was received yesterday by J. B. Dorrington, of the Panhandle Railroad, from D. Brock, at Steubenville, requesting him to send the Coroner to Camp Hill Coal Siding, near Mansfield, to hold an inquest on a man who was killed at that point by a coal train, Saturday night. No names or any particulars of the accident are given. The dispatch was not received by the Coroner until after the last train had departed, and he will hold the inquest this morning.

Raid on a Disorderly House.

Saturday evening between nine and ten o'clock the Allegheny police made a raid on a disorderly house, No. 240 Federal street, Third ward, succeeding in capturing the entire party of inmates, five men and three women, and conveying them to the lockup. The proprietor of the establishment, Harry Hatch, and his wife, were committed for trial, in the sum of $500, on a charge of maintaining a disorderly house. Two of the men paid fines of ten dollars each. The other two men and two women were sent to jail. The information upon which the arrest was made, was lodged before the mayor by James Porter (colored), residing in the immediate vicinity. The house has been the source of considerable annoyance to the neighborhood for some time past.

To be Repaired.

The Directors of the St. Clair street Suspension Bridge design making extensive repairs and improvements in that structure during the coming season. Among the most noticeable will be the laying of an entire new floor on the cartway, the old one having almost worn through. There is some talk of laying the Nicolson, as the new floor, but there is fear that this kind of pavement would not be practicable, owing to the springing of the bridge between the piers, when travel is heavy. The contemplated changes in the toll houses, of which we have spoken heretofore, will be made at the same time the new floor is laid. It is designed to commence the work next month and finish it as rapidly as possible.

A Fatal Fall.

Aaron Ross, an aged colored man, met with an accident Saturday morning at the warehouse of Page, Zellers & Duff, Second avenue, which resulted in his death. He was engaged in whitewashing in the second story of the building, and while passing across the floor he stumbled and fell through an open hatchway, striking on his head on the first floor. The distance he fell was about fourteen feet, and death resulted almost immediately. Coroner Clawson was summoned and held an inquest, when the jury returned a verdict of accidental death. Deceased was about sixty years of age, and resided on Poplar alley, in the Seventh ward, where he leaves a wife and family.

Boy Drowned--Coroner's Inquest.

About six o'clock on Saturday evening Gabriel Fensoher, a butcher's boy, residing in the Fifteenth ward, was accidentally drowned in the Allegheny river at the foot of Ewalt street, Seventeenth ward. It appears that the boy had been out with a horse and wagon and had gone into the river for the purpose of washing them off, and when returning to the shore the wagon upset and the driver and horse were both drowned.

Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body yesterday morning, when the jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

Deceased was about seventeen years of age, was born in Germany, and has been in this country about a year.

The Troupe of Tyrolean Singers who appear at the Academy of Music next Thursday have gained great applause in Europe, where they appeared before a number of crowned heads. Among a number of autograph testimonials, of which they have quite a collection, from celebrities of the old country, is one from Count Bismarck, who says:

"The Tyrolean Singing Society, Shoepfer director, has given several concerts here, which have been received with great applause and satisfaction by the public."

[Signed] COUNT BISMARCK.

Eras, July 12, 1863.

The above autograph, with several more, can be seen at H. Kleber's, 122 Wood street, where the sale of seats for their two concerts, on next Thursday and Friday evenings, commences this morning at ten o'clock.

Miss Judith Russel, of New Bedford, writes: I have been afflicted with severe prostrating cramps in my limbs, cold feet and hands, and a general disordered system. While visiting some friends in New York, who were using PLANTATION BITTERS, they prevailed upon me to try them. I commenced with a small wine-glass full after each meal. Feeling better by degrees, in a few days I was astonished to find the coldness and cramps had entirely left me, and I could sleep the night through, which I had not done for years. I feel like another being. My appetite and strength have also greatly improved by the use of the PLANTATION BITTERS.
